

Cold Weather Tips

- Never shave your dog down to the skin in winter, as a longer coat will provide more warmth. When you bathe your dog in the colder months, be sure to completely dry him before taking him out for a walk. Own a short-haired breed? Consider getting him a coat or sweater with a high collar or turtleneck with coverage from the base of the tail to the belly. For many dogs, this is regulation winter wear.
- Never leave your dog or cat alone in a car during the cold weather. A car can act as a refrigerator in the winter; holding in the cold and causing the animal to freeze to death.
- Puppies do not tolerate the cold as well as adult dogs, and may be difficult to house-break during the winter months. If your puppy appears to be sensitive to the weather, you may opt to paper-train him inside. If your dog is sensitive to the cold due to old age, illness, or breed type, take him outdoors only to relieve him.
- More protein! Does your dog spent a lot of time engaged in outdoor activities? Increase his supply of food, particularly protein, to keep him and his fur in tip top shape.
- Like coolant, antifreeze is a lethal poison for dogs and cats. Be sure to thoroughly clean up any spills from your vehicle, and consider using products that contain propylene glycol rather than ethylene glycol. Visit the ASPCA Animal Control Center for more information (contact information below).
- Make sure your companion animal has a warm place to sleep, off the floor and away from drafts. A cozy dog or cat bed with war blankets or pillow is perfect.
- Keep your cat inside. When outdoors, felines can freeze, become lost or stolen, or injured or killed. Cats who are allowed to stray are exposed to infectious diseases, including rabies from other cats, dogs and wildlife.
- Check your car. During the winter, outdoor cats sometimes sleep under the hoods of cars. When the motor is started, the cats can be injured or killed by the fan belt. If there are outdoor cats in your area, bang loudly on the car hood before starting the engine to give the cats a chance to escape.
- Never let your dog off the leash on the snow or ice, especially during a snow storm-dogs can lose their scent and easily become lost. More dogs are lost during the winter than any other season, so make sure yours always wears an ID tag.
- Thoroughly wipe off your dog's legs and stomach when he comes in and out of the sleet, snow, and ice. He can ingest salt, antifreeze, or other potentially dangerous chemicals while licking his paws. His paw pads may also bleed from snow or encrusted ice.
